October 1, 2013 - Court Grants Final Approval of $215 Million Settlement in In re Merck & Co., Inc. Vytorin/Zetia Securities Litigation; Total Recoveries in Coordinated Class Actions against Merck and Schering-Plough Reach $688 Million

On October 1, 2013, the Court granted final approval of the $215 million settlement reached as part of a coordinated securities class actions pending against Merck & Co. Inc. (“Merck”), Schering-Plough Corporation (“Schering”), Merck/Schering-Plough Pharmaceuticals, certain of the Companies’ directors and officers, and the underwriters of a 2007 Schering stock offering. The other action, In re Schering-Plough Corporation/ENHANCE Securities Litigation, settled for $473 million.

The combined $688 million in settlements is the second largest securities class action settlement in the Third Circuit, among the top 25 securities class action settlements of all time, and among the ten largest recoveries in a securities class action not involving a restatement. The settlements were reached only after the Court granted Plaintiffs’ motions for class certification and denied Defendants’ motions for summary judgment, and the Third Circuit denied Defendants’ Rule 23(f) appeals of the District Court’s decisions granting class certification. Trial was scheduled to begin on March 4, 2013.

According to a report issued by Court-appointed Special Masters tasked with reviewing the course of the litigation, the Merck settlement is “extremely impressive given the particular challenges presented by the Merck Action in proving causation, materiality, scienter and damages emanating from, among other difficulties, the failure of Merck shares to decline in the wake of the initial public disclosure that Vytorin had failed the ENHANCE trial,” especially since Merck did not experience a significant drop in their stock price.

Important information about the settlement is contained in the Notice of (I) Proposed Settlement and Plan of Allocation; (II) Settlement Fairness Hearing; and (III) Motion for Attorneys’ Fees and Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses (the “Settlement Notice”). If you are a member of the Class (the full definition of which is set forth in the Settlement Notice), your rights will be affected and you may be eligible for a payment from the settlement. Please be sure to read the Settlement Notice to fully understand your rights. ### Background

The action arises from allegations that Merck, one of the world’s largest pharmaceutical companies, concealed material information and made false and misleading statements relating to Merck’s multi-billion dollar blockbuster drugs Vytorin and Zetia. In particular, it is alleged that Merck improperly withheld the results of the “ENHANCE” clinical trial, which contradicted Merck’s initial public statements and presentations claiming that the Company expected the trial to “demonstrate [the] additional benefits of Vytorin,” thereby driving “future growth.”

The results of the trial, which Merck partially released on January 14, 2008 in response to public pressure, revealed that not only did the Company's cholesterol drugs show "no statistically significant difference" in plaque buildup, but that the fatty arterial plaques actually grew somewhat faster than in those patients taking a cheaper generic drug. Following this announcement, the House of Representatives' Committee on Energy and Commerce and its Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations began a probe into the Defendants' "withholding of clinical trial data that may significantly affect the medical management of hypercholesterolemia, as well as the use of misleading statement [sic] in direct-to-consumer advertisements for prescription medicines."

The Complaint in this action claims that, as a result of Merck’s dissemination of materially false and misleading information, as well as the failure to disclose material facts during the Class Period, the market price of Merck’s common stock was artificially inflated, thereby causing damage to Class Members.
