

Law360 Names Mark Lebovitch a “Titan of the Plaintiffs Bar”

May 7, 2018

BLB&G partner Mark Lebovitch is one of only ten practitioners nationwide who have been selected by Law360 as “Titans of the Plaintiffs Bar.” The list honors a select group of top plaintiffs’ attorneys who “strategically shaped outcomes, acted as champions for their clients, nabbed massive settlements, and perform with passion.”

Law360 recognizes Mr. Lebovitch as one of the “top plaintiffs lawyers who had significant victories in 2017,” highlighting his role in reaching a “$290 million settlement with Pershing Square and Valeant amid insider trading allegations,” and for helping “create the first corporate watchdog council with 21st Century Fox over sexual harassment claims.”

Widely recognized by all industry observers for his achievements, Mr. Lebovitch is primarily responsible for the firm's corporate governance litigation practice, focusing on derivative suits and transactional litigation. He has prosecuted numerous high-profile cases on behalf of institutional investors to preliminary injunctions and to trial, obtaining billions of dollars for investors and achieving unprecedented corporate governance improvements.
