The National Law Journal recognized BLB&G Partners John Rizio-Hamilton and Katie Sinderson on its fourth annual list of Legal Trailblazers, which spotlights an exclusive group of individuals from each practice area who are considered agents of change.

John Rizio-Hamilton was selected based on his work on some of the most complex and high-stakes securities class action cases, including cases prosecuted against Bank of America, Citigroup, Wachovia and JP Morgan Chase that helped recover billions for investors, and a precedent-setting class certification in In re Signet Jewelers Limited Securities Litigation related to allegations of sexual harassment at the company.

Katie Sinderson was selected based on the more than $4 billion dollars she has recovered over the course of her career on behalf of injured investors, and her current work prosecuting securities class actions against Boeing, Kraft, Frontier Communications and Novo Nordisk.

Each profile explores the careers of the honorees, covering their pioneer spirit, trails blazed, and future explorations of their practice areas. To read the profiles of John and Katie, click here and see pages 25 and 29, respectively.
