

BLB&G Recognized as a Leading Plaintiff Law Firm in Latest ISS SCAS “Top 50” Report

March 7, 2025

BLB&G has once again been recognized as a leading plaintiff law firm among those representing investors in securities litigation, according to data compiled by ISS Securities Class Action Services (SCAS) in its “Top 50” report. The firm’s ranking reflects its recovery of more than $794 million for investors in 2024. The $794 million in recoveries cited by ISS SCAS is limited to U.S. securities class actions and does not include the billions of dollars in shareholder value reclaimed by BLB&G through other forms of shareholder litigation, including corporate governance class action litigation, in 2024.

The ISS SCAS “Top 50” report follows the publication’s recent release of its “Top 100 U.S. Class Action Settlements of All Time” report, which showed that for the 15th consecutive year, BLB&G was lead or co-lead counsel in 37 of the top 100 U.S. securities fraud settlements of all time—13 more than its closest competitor. The firm has secured more than $27 billion of the top 100 class action recoveries—nearly 40 percent of all funds in the top 100 recoveries and $7 billion more than our closest competitor. Since its founding in 1983, the firm has recovered more than $40 billion for investors.

We are honored to be recognized as a leading plaintiff law firm in ISS SCAS's Top 50 and Top 100 Reports. Our success in securing justice for injured investors is only possible because of the trust and partnership of our clients. We are deeply grateful for the opportunity to work alongside them to level the playing field, hold wrongdoers accountable, and drive meaningful corporate governance reforms. We are also incredibly proud of our dedicated BLB&G team that approaches every case with creativity, determination, and an unwavering commitment to justice.

—Hannah Ross, Senior Partner & Executive Committee Member