

David Wales Discusses Recent Developments in Shareholder Derivative Litigation at New York City Bar

April 6, 2011

BLB&G partner David Wales participated in the program "Contests for Control; Recent Developments in Shareholder Derivative Litigation," on Wednesday, April 6, 2011 at the New York City Bar Center.

Mr. Wales joined a panel of experts to examine recent developments in shareholder derivative litigation.

An experienced trial and appellate attorney, Mr. Wales prosecutes class and private actions in both federal and state courts, specializing in complex commercial and securities litigation, as well as arbitrations. He has taken more than 15 cases to trial, including obtaining a jury verdict for more than $11 million in a derivative action against the general partner of a hedge fund, and a multi-million dollar class action settlement with an accounting firm reached during trial.
