

John Rizio-Hamilton Speaks at Preventing Fraud in Settlement Funds Conference

March 11, 2020

BLB&G partner John Rizio-Hamilton will be giving opening remarks at the Preventing Fraud in Settlement Funds Conference on March 11 in New York City. The event is being hosted by Huntington Bank. The day-long program gathers the settlement industry's thought leaders to proactively address the issue of fraud in settlement funds, and will include panel discussion and breakout sessions to identify issues, brainstorm solutions, and highlight best industry practices. John is involved in a variety of the firm's litigation practice areas, focusing specifically on securities fraud, corporate governance, and shareholder rights. He currently represents the firm's institutional investor clients as counsel in a number of major pending actions.
