

BusinessWeek* Profiles Max Berger and Sean Coffey in "The Kings of Class Actions"

May 16, 2005

On the heels of several terrific successes for the firm, including the record-breaking $6.128 billion recovery for investors in the In re WorldCom, Inc. Securities Litigation, BLB&G partner Max Berger and former partner Sean Coffey were the subjects of "The Kings of Class Actions," a feature story in BusinessWeek magazine.

The article shares some candid personal moments with Berger, Coffey, family, friends and colleagues. It also details some of the more interesting aspects of the successful prosecution of the WorldCom litigation and notes BLB&G's #1 ranking among plaintiff firms practicing securities litigation by research firm Institutional Shareholder Services.