

Amanda Rekemeier

Managing Director of Client Relations, New York
212.554.1451
amanda@blbglaw.com

---

Amanda Rekemeier is responsible for client outreach and business development initiatives for BLB&G among public pension, Taft-Hartley, and other institutional investors.

She is actively involved in the firm's initiatives and presentations at industry conferences and represents the firm in professional organizations including the National Council on Teacher Retirement, and the National Conference on Public Employee Retirement Systems, as well as numerous state and local pension fund associations. For nearly two decades, she has been a member of the firm's case development and client advisory group, researching and providing clients with essential information regarding potential claims.

Prior to joining BLB&G, Amanda worked in the financial services industry on the trading floors of several investment banks including Adams, Harkness & Hill, Inc., J.P. Morgan and Needham & Co.

Amanda received her bachelor's degree in Economics from Colgate University.

Education

- Colgate University, B.A., Economics